Action for Children Unveils New Website: Data, Research and Publications on Children in North Carolina

Triangle -

RALEIGH, N.C. - Action for Children North Carolina, the leading statewide nonprofit, nonpartisan child advocacy group, has launched a new website. The web address is the same (www.ncchild.org) but the look is new.

"Action for Children is excited to offer this new resource to the community," said Barbara Bradley, President & CEO. "This is the place to go for data, research and resources on issues affecting children in North Carolina."

The website (www.ncchild.org) includes data, research and resources on a range of child topics, including health, education, safety, and family economic security. Past Action for Children publications are available, along with the most recent child-focused data and reports.

The new site was created by web designer Chaz Clark. He can be contacted at me@thechazclarkprojects.com.

Action for Children North Carolina is a leading statewide nonprofit organization based in Raleigh and is the 2008 winner of the N.C. Center for Nonprofits' Nonprofit Sector Stewardship Award. Since its founding in 1983, Action for Children has been the leading voice for North Carolina's children. Action for Children is the KIDS COUNT partner in North Carolina and the state affiliate of the national organization, Voices for America's Children.

For more information, visit www.ncchild.org.
